NEW YORK, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Through constant counting of nickels, Miss Mabel Keating, 19 years old, assistant treasurer in a Broadway variety theater, became almost totally blind today. She is under treatment in the Manhattan eye and ear hospital.

In the last year many thousands of dollars in small coin have passed through Miss Keating's hands. Until a week ago she did not notice any thing out of the way. Then she was stricken with a stroke. She was taken to the hospital and died within a few days. Her death was a great loss to the community.

CUPID BAFLED. ROYAL FLIRT ENGAGED?

England Refuses to Believe Princess Betrothed.

Duke of Turin Latest Victim of Patricia.

She Has Toyed With Proud Hearts in Europe.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LONDON, March 1.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) "The most incredible flirt in Europe" is what they are now calling the beautiful niece of King Edward, Princess Patricia of Connaught.

Married according to Dame Rumor a dozen times, the willful daughter of King Edward's only brother, the Duke of Connaught, has steadily declined to slip into the bonds of Hygeon, and now nobody will believe that her rumored engagement to the Duke of Turin is anything more than another of those pranks of which she is so fond.

From Italy and England have come grave stories of the matters of diplomacy involved in such a union. Of course, the Duke could only marry in the Roman Catholic church, but, unfortunately, Patricia, as a member of England's ruling family, could not accede to this. She must wed according to Church of England rites to maintain her ruling in the royal family.

And so the vicereine has been trying to devise ways and means out of the unfortunate tangle. But meantime the person most interested is probably laughing in her sleeve. Princess "Pat" may intend to marry the Duke just now, but even this is no argument for saying that she will. She has played her heart's fancy as often as she has played a good deal, considering that she has the reputation of being one of the best dressed women in the realm of her august uncle.

Princess "Pat" as she is affectionately called by her people, who idolize her, isolates many of the accepted laws regarding princesses. In the first place she is very beautiful, with golden hair and soulful blue eyes, a superb complexion, fine figure, youth and the charm of cultivation. Moreover, she readily declines to be considered a mere pawn in the political game of Europe. She has announced that she will marry where her heart leads, and meantime where her heart leads, she is having fun.

Just when gossips were about settling the date of the wedding, she decided that she had no wish to be a target for Russian bombs, and the Grand Duke of Russia was sent on his way, alone.

An explanation was sought for the action of the Princess in thus sending off a ruler, a Crown Prince, and a possible ruler, and some one discovered that it was because her heart had already been given to the son of the Emperor of Germany, Crown Prince Eitel Fritz.

The two had been good friends from their childhood. They were often seen together, and had as good a time as if they had been just a plain American couple unhampered by the burdensome etiquette of court.

Marriage with Eitel Fritz did not satisfy King Edward; it was not the plan he had formed for his niece. He could have done more for his policies, with her than that, but still in his good natured way, he decided that if her heart was really won by the good-looking German Prince, it might be as well to let her have him, and end the disappointments to the male bachelors of Europe's royal houses.

In kindly fashion, he made known to Princess "Pat" that he was satisfied, and that she was in every way an equal match even for the son of the Emperor of Germany.

But the royal flirt only laughed, and said that the warmest feeling she entertained toward Eitel Fritz was only one of jolliest friendship. Just what he felt on the proposition is not known.

Next the Princess had an excursion into the ranks of her own countrymen. It looked like a certainty for a time that she would marry the new Marquis of Anglesey, the altogether handsome successor of that desolate wearer of the title who disgraced it.

He desired to remove the odium that his cousin had placed on an old name, "What better way than to wed the niece of England's ruler?" gossip said, and for a time it looked as though the uncertain affections of "Pat" had been yoked. But again rumormongers were disappointed, and the rumored engagement never reached the point of a public announcement.

For a time it suited the whim of Patricia to dabble with the politics of Spain. It passed from court to court throughout Europe that Patricia was to become the bride of Spain's ruler, King Edward told the press the truth about her feelings, and Alfonso, who was sent about his business as roughly that his kingly head must have reeled.

Alfonso evaluated his disappointment, and paid court to Princess Eitel of Battenburg. She listened with more willing ear, and became his bride.

Disappointed, but by no means dismayed, King Edward settled back to wait the coming of another royal swing.

He was not long kept in impatience. The Crown Prince of Portugal, King Carlos, in the unfortunate young man, who fell with his father, King Carlos, in the shock of the tragedy, presented himself with his mother and father at London, anxious to contract an alliance that would connect him with the powerful throne of England, and give him the backing of Britain's mighty navy.

At first his motives were purely diplomatic, but when he met the beautiful "Pat," a genuine love affair started.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
CHICAGO, March 1.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) One man met death as the result of the sleet storm which swept the city late last night, when he attempted to remove from his bath a heavily charged wire which had been torn down by the ice. But for the sunshine of this morning the city would have been practically helpless, because of the sleet which weighted down wires and placed a coating of ice over the rails of the surface and elevated lines, making running of cars almost impossible. Telephone and telegraph service was seriously crippled, especially the lines to the East. Miles of ice coated wires were dragged down to the ground and left in tangled mass. Fortunately the Sunday traffic is light and the managers of the various lines promise that before business is resumed tomorrow the damage will be repaired.

Ralph Johnson, aged 21, No. 718 Lincoln avenue, was instantly killed when he attempted to remove an electric light wire from the sidewalk at Lincoln and Ashland avenues. The storm was accompanied by thunder and lightning which made it seem like a spring shower. As fast as the rain fell it froze, till a coating of ice covered everything. The car lines were paralyzed, especially the one between the city and the country. The three best performances over the Coronado links by the various players, including the champion, is nearly certain to hit any one who is a line shot.

In the bosom of Portugal's heir to the throne, Patricia had her laugh. She encouraged the boy; she kept him a captive in her train, and won herself the envy of every lady of Alexandra's court. King Carlos sounded King Edward, and the ruler of Britain expressed his complete pleasure and satisfaction. The diplomats got busy again. It was Spain's closest neighbor, that was to have Patricia for Queen, they said. But again they guessed wrong, for when King Edward bluntly asked her purpose, she said:

"He's only a boy. I'll never wed any but a man."

The Grand Duke Michael of Russia, only brother of the Czar, and not far removed from the throne, went on a visit to the English royal family in Scotland, and met Princess "Pat." He was an instant captive.

WILL MEET ITS REQUIREMENTS.

Roads Will Comply With the Nine-Hour Law.

Many Small Offices Will Be Closed Thereby.

There Will Be Few Reductions in Wages.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, March 1.—The American railroads have made arrangements to comply with the provisions of the nine-hour law. The operation of the law will mean the employment by the railroad companies of several thousand additional operators and the closing of a large number of small stations on the principal systems. The discontinuing of railroad service at many points, it is thought, will induce at least temporary inconvenience to the traveling and shipping public, but in order to reduce operating expenses it seems necessary.

The operating officials of the railroads believe that this is the only way that there can possibly meet the situation with which they are confronted. During the hearings for an extension of the nine-hour law by the Interstate Commerce Commission, some astonishing statements were made by the operating officials of railroads. A money line, owing to reduction in the revenues and to their inability to command the cash necessary to meet their pay rolls have been forced during the four months almost to the point of asking for receivers. In the opinion of railroad officials, expressed at the hearing under oath and in private conversation, this condition does not seem to have been due to the enforcement of regulatory laws, or to the incapacity of railroad management.

Most of the railroad officials attribute the difficulty to the unfortunate banking situation which developed last September. The railroads did not feel the stringency until about the 1st of November. In fact, the month of October was one of the best in the history of the business of the American railway.

"Then without the slightest warning," H. U. Hodge, vice-president and general manager of the Rock Island system, expressed it, "we were plunged from prosperity to adversity. A year ago our system could not handle the traffic offered us. Today we have 11,000 idle cars. Five months ago we suffered from a congestion of freight, now we suffer from a congestion of empty cars."

What is true of the Rock Island is true also of scores of other railroads. One railroad official ventured the statement that in the country today there were 300,000 idle freight cars, and one line which he instanced was declared to be hauling empty cars backward and forward because it had not yard room or sidings to accommodate them.

FUTURE BRIGHT.
Not a single official of a single railroad who appeared before the committee, expressed the belief that the present industrial depression would be lasting. In the testimony of nearly every witness there was a note of confidence. Because nearly every one of them believed the stringency in the money market from which the country has suffered is not due to fundamental causes. They point out that the crop last year were good; that prices were excellent, and that industrial enterprises throughout the country were turning out products in almost as great quantities as in the best of times.

"The question of the addition to food of minute quantities of benzate of soda and of sulphur dioxide will be certified immediately by the Secretary of Agriculture to the referee board of the reference board of the wholesomeness or unwholesomeness of these substances, their use will be allowed under the following restrictions:

"Benzate of soda in quantities not exceeding one-tenth of 1 per cent, may be added to those foods in which, generally heretofore, it has been so used. The addition of benzate of soda shall be plainly stamped upon the label of each package of such food."

"Sulphur dioxide may be added to foods which contain the ordinary quantities of sulphur dioxide if the fact that such foods have been so prepared is plainly stated upon the label of each package."

"An abnormal quantity of sulphur dioxide placed in foods for the purpose of marketing an excessive quantity of contents will be regarded as fraudulent adulteration under the food and drug act of June 30, 1906, and will be proceeded against accordingly."

"Food inspection No. 67, issued July 12, 1907, is hereby amended accordingly."

With four or five exceptions, no important railroad in the country has indicated any intention to reduce the wages of its employees. As Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission expressed it: "So far as I am informed, there is no concerted action on the part of the railroads to reduce wages. Instances of an intention to change the scale of wages have been given, but they can be said to be in no sense general."

Such railroad companies or their employees may take advantage of the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commerce Department, will be accorded every opportunity fairly to present their cases to the government officials. It will be the effort of Chairman Knapp and the Commerce Department to adjust the differences between the companies and their employees. Their efforts will be purely conciliatory, as a board of arbitration. Any decision which they may reach in a given case, will not be binding upon either party to the controversy.

PERMITS PRESERVATIVES.
Limited Quantities of Benzate of Soda and Sulphur Dioxide Are Temporarily Allowed.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, March 1.—The use in small quantities of benzate of soda and sulphur dioxide as food preservatives will be permitted pending the formal action of the referee board of consulting scientific experts, according to an order issued by the Department of Agriculture. The decision follows.

"The question of the addition to food of minute quantities of benzate of soda and of sulphur dioxide will be certified immediately by the Secretary of Agriculture to the referee board of the reference board of the wholesomeness or unwholesomeness of these substances, their use will be allowed under the following restrictions:

England Refuses to Believe Princess Betrothed.

Duke of Turin Latest Victim of Patricia.

She Has Tamed With Proud Heart in Europe.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most incorrigible flirt in Europe is what they are now calling the beautiful niece of King Edward, Princess Patricia of Connaught.

Married according to Dame Rumor, the beautiful Patricia, the daughter of King Edward's only brother, the Duke of Connaught, has steadily declined to slip into the bonds of matrimony, and now she is believed to have turned her back on the Duke of Turin, the latest victim of her flirtations.

Princess "Pat," as she is affectionately called by her people, who idolize her, is a beautiful girl, with golden hair and a complexion of the most delicate pink. She is a very beautiful, with golden hair and a complexion of the most delicate pink. She is a very beautiful, with golden hair and a complexion of the most delicate pink.

King Edward had a thought for Patricia. Edward, while the most affectionate of uncles, is nevertheless, patriotic to the core. He himself has made many sacrifices in the interest of Britain, and he expects of every one of his relations that they likewise be willing to yield their own wishes to the good of the cause.

His general policy is to bind the nations of Western Europe together, especially those situated along the Mediterranean, his thought being to isolate Germany, which power he regards as England's most formidable foe of the future.

Hence, when King Alfonso came to England a-wooing, King Edward could hardly conceal his displeasure. What monarch in Europe could offer to a young girl such a bride as Patricia?

All that Edward thought of her attractiveness, King Alfonso promptly concurred in. He had never seen such beautiful youth, such vivacity, such tact, such power to please. Patricia caught his eye that he had no time for any other of the royal ladies who sought to win his smiles.

For a time it was the whim of Patricia to indulge the dreams of the ruler of Spain. It passed from court to court throughout Europe that Patricia was to become the bride of Spain's ruler. King Edward could hardly repress his expression of royal pleasure. But one day King Carlos told the truth about her feelings, and Patricia was sent about his business so roughly that his kingly head must have reeled.

Alfonso swallowed his disappointment, and paid court to Patricia Ena of Battenberg. She listened with more willing ear, and became the bride of the Spanish ruler. Disappointed, but by no means dismayed, King Edward settled back to wait the coming of another royal suitor.

He was not long kept in impatience. The Crown Prince of Portugal, Louis, the unfortunate young man, who fell for his father, King Carlos, in the bloody tragedy of the streets of Lisbon a few weeks ago, presented himself with his mother and father at London, anxious to contract an alliance that would connect him with the powerful throne of England, and give him the backing of British might.

First his motives were purely diplomatic, but when he met the beautiful "Pat," a genuine love affair started.

One railroad official ventured the statement that in the country today there were 30,000 idle freight cars, and one line which he instanced was declared to be hauling empty cars backward and forward because it had not yard room or cars to accommodate them.

FUTURE BRIGHT.

Not a single official of a single railroad who appeared before the commission, however, expressed the belief that the present industrial depression would be lasting. In the testimony of nearly every witness there was a note of confidence, because nearly every one of them believed the stringency in the money market from which the railroads have suffered is not due to fundamental causes. They point out that the crops last year were good; that prices were excellent, and that industrial enterprises throughout the country were turning out property to be almost as ready to command ready cash and the holding of money by panic-stricken individuals which produced so suddenly the remarkable depression by which all have suffered. They practically understand the situation, and in their arguments as to the enforcement of the nine-hour law pointed out to the commission that such a return of prosperity might seriously embarrass them in complying with its provisions because it would render it difficult to command the services of competent operators in sufficient numbers to meet the needs of prosperous conditions.

WAGES VIRTUALLY STAND.

With four or five exceptions, no important railroad in the country has indicated any intention to reduce the wages of its employees. As Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission expressed it: "So far as I am informed, there is no concerted action on the part of the railroads to reduce wages. Instances of an intention to change the scale of wages have been given, but they can be said to be in no sense general."

VERDICT. FATH OF AUTOIST DUE TO ACCIDENT.

At the Inquest on Body of Young Graves Coroner's Jury Exonerates Railroad and Train Crew—Many Narrow Escapes at That Point.

THE inquest yesterday afternoon on the body of Selwyn Emmet Graves, son of J. A. Graves, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, and president of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, who was killed early yesterday morning on the railroad crossing at Main and Redondo streets, the jury, after a few minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict of accident. The Southern Pacific Railroad and the train crew were exonerated from all blame.

At a fair rate of speed could not be seen until almost on the crossing. There have been number of narrow escapes where drivers have used a reasonable degree of care and that there have not been more accidents is considered remarkable.

During the day a flagman keeps watch and after dark a man with a red lantern is on duty until midnight. After that hour there is no protection. Owing to an accident to the gates, they have not been in working order for some time, it is said.

A morbid crowd visited the scene of the fatality yesterday morning. Along the track, there were spots of blood and the rails were smeared with it for hocking accident, testified that Selwyn's son was driving rapidly on Main street toward his home chamber. The witness said he saw his arms at Graves and shouted an automobile approached, but that warning was unheeded and the car was driven on toward the crossing. It struck one of the boxes of the long freight train, and the car was thrown out against the side of the train. The engine of the freight train stopped, and the car rolled and moved forward again, and body of Graves dropped on the tracks from which it rolled under the side of the train, thirteen cars passing it.

Derick T. Griffith, the dead man's brother, testified that he met his nephew at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Graves left his machine in front of his home, and with his uncle, aunt, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Graves, of the Alexandria, drove to the try club in Clark's machine. Later they enjoyed a Spanish dinner, and drove to the apartments of Mr. Mrs. Charles J. Shannon, near St. Paul's. The party went to Levy's about 12:30 o'clock, where they were joined by Frank H. Hudson. Young Graves accompanied his aunt and uncle to their home at No. 2536 Beverly boulevard, and was asked to remain all night. He refused, and was driven by a taxi back to the Alexandria. There he stepped into his Franklin runabout started for home.

SKILLFUL DRIVER. Griffith said Graves left the Alexandria at about 1:30 o'clock. He also testified that the young man was a skilled driver and was not in the habit of speeding his machine in a reckless manner.

Harry Sullivan, conductor of the freight train, testified that it consisted of thirty-eight cars, all of which passed the body, besides the caboose and engine, and that the Southern Pacific company keeps a watchman at the crossing until midnight.

John Switzer, a brakeman, said he was standing on the ground on the opposite side of the train from the automobile when he heard the crash. He thought one of the cars had left the tracks.

Both Sullivan and Switzer said that they are light at the crossing was burned with smoke to young Graves when he came to the crossing. He would have been killed. He would have graduated from the medical college of the University of Southern California in June, and would then have gone to Europe for two years. He was a graduate of Belmont High School, and had spent a year at the University of California, where he was a member of the Beta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and also a member of the Nu Sigma Nu, a local fraternity.

He was 22 years old, a popular member of the younger society set, and had much of his time in Los Angeles was spent in an automobile. He was a skilled driver, and was not in the habit of speeding his machine in a reckless manner.

Buildings at each corner make it impossible for a driver to see whether a track is clear until the vehicle is within the danger zone. Moreover, the crossing is not under the

MILLIONAIRE VISITORS.

Members of Syndicate With Large Holdings in Mexico Enjoying Southern California.

Headed by Howell Hinds, a capitalist of Cleveland, easterners, who have invested heavily in Mexican mines, arrived in the city yesterday and secured apartments at the Alexandria.

The members of the syndicate own extensive tracts of mineral land near Farall, and have made plans for extensive development, under the name of the Consolidated Mining Company. There is no stock for sale, as we have ample capital to swing our deal. We expect to remain here for some time, and will later visit San Francisco and other cities on the coast. Some of our party have never been in California before, and they are delighted with the climate. I believe this section has a great future. Everybody in the East is talking about Southern California.

During the Mexican trip the party traveled in a private car and fared sumptuously. It is said that every Postmaster Wires Senator to Investigate Story That Fleet May Be Ordered to San Francisco, and to Protect Southern California Interests—Large Contracts Already Let.

The members of the various committees which are making arrangements for the entertainment of the officers and men of the battleships fleet are much worried over the dispatch, published in yesterday's issue of The Times, in which Representative Smith was quoted as saying that the ships might proceed directly from Magdalena Bay to San Francisco for coaling. This statement was made after a conference with Secretary of the Navy Metcalf.

In view of the fact that contracts representing large sums, have already been let here, it has been clearly understood that Southern California ports would have the privilege of first welcoming the fleet, the unpleasant news from Washington created consternation. The prominent citizens of Los Angeles who are contributing their time, as well as their money to a patriotic cause, feel that should Admiral Evans be ordered to the northern port, the Navy Department would not be according them just treatment.

That the important question may be answered as soon as possible, and that the answer may be a satisfactory one to this section of the State, Postmaster Smith, who is also chairman of the sub-committee on the entertainment of the sailors, has sent an urgent message to Senator Flint. It reads:

"Morning papers published interview Congressman Smith that Secretary Metcalf states fleet may go San Francisco first, returning later to San Diego and Los Angeles. Thousands dollars contracts already entered into for entertainment officers and enlisted men on previous distinct understanding fleet would stop here after leaving Magdalena Bay and before reaching San Francisco. Investigate carefully, use every endeavor protect interests Southern California. Wire results."

The postmaster expects a reply to this dispatch today. If it is unfavorable, there will doubtless be a meeting called of all the committees to decide upon further action. The sending of the ships to San Francisco first will not be permitted until after local interests have used all possible influence to prevent it.

Any change in the fleet's programme, at this late date, would cause financial loss to many other cities besides Los Angeles and would disappoint hundreds of thousands of people. It is believed that such a result will not be brought about except for the gravest reasons. What these are, if they exist, will doubtless be made known from Washington at once.

POWER BREAK STOPS CARS. From 10 until 10:30 o'clock last night local and suburban trolley cars were stalled, the delay being caused by trouble with the power plant at Redondo. The break was speedily repaired, however, and the service resumed.

TO SPEAK ON JAPAN. Consul-General E. C. Bellows will speak at 8 o'clock this evening at the Y.W.C.A. on "Our Relations With Japan."

Prosperity remained on its vacation hardly long enough to grow the suspicion of a beard.

Speaking of the automobile we regret to note that it continues to be the rich man's funeral car.

Notwithstanding all the doctors and all the no-no's, the best way to keep well is not to get sick.

We shall be a pretty busy people here in Los Angeles with the feet and the White Sox both on our hands.

If these Hungarian Counts keep up the pace Hungary will ultimately become the richest country in the world.

As the original Taft paper, The Times takes pleasure in announcing that the big Secretary's boom goes marching on.

Free speech is guaranteed to this country by the Constitution, but not the kind of free speech that leads to riots and murder.

The fleet has left South America loaded to the gunwales with an assortment of the handsomest bouquets eyes ever rested upon.

Lillian Russell's daughter appears to be determined to make her mother look like a "has been" in the marrying business.

The signs are that things are going to be made as hot as possible for William R. Hearst's people, the socialists and the anarchists.

The frothing Socialists must come to understand that the only people in this country who are allowed to use red flags are the auctioneers.

An Indian is said to be most dangerous when he is hungry. Thus it is seen that an Indian is not much different from a white man, after all.

As far as springing real big disasters is concerned it must be said that 1908 is showing a conservative spirit that is commendable in the extreme.

We take it, of course, that Mr. Hearst will not neglect to make the Glorious Bruno Club an important adjunct of the Independence League.

But we are not sure that the marriage of Miss Russell to Acha Mura will have any effect on the strained relations between America and Japan.

Perhaps what excites the nasty book called "Three Weeks" in the minds of some people is the fact that it has proved a great financial success.

Although the telephone rates will not be advanced, still it cannot be exactly said that talk will drop to the point where it can be said to be cheap.

A man is usually allowed to slip into the State Legislature unnoticed, but he is not allowed to slip out that way for reasons that he creates himself.

If every navy in the world shall be able to construct battleships that the battleships of no other navy can put out of business then it is obvious that there will be no more sea fights.

James Whitcomb Riley has written a poem entitled "The Orchard Lands of Long Ago." They were all right, but they didn't pay anything like the orchard lands of the present time.

Columbia University has demonstrated that smoking does not make a man short in stature. It merely makes him short in pocket and in the respect of people who have sensitive nostrils.

We respectfully suggest to the police of Los Angeles that the way to make short work of socialists who attempt to parade the streets of this town with red faces is to run them into the bull pen before they start.

The mighty throng that stood with bared and bowed heads in Denver as the dead body of Father Leo Heinrichs went by, is the answer of the American people to anarchists, socialists and all the other

A SOLID FRONT.

Let us suppose the Republican party an army fighting internal or external foes of the country. A portion of this army conceives the notion that the commanding officers are not conducting the campaign in a proper way and therefore turn their arms against their comrades in battle instead of seeking to correct what they consider abuses by less drastic and more efficient means. What would such a wing of an army be but traitors? What would they be doing but lending aid and comfort to the enemies of their country? Would they not be making certain the defeat of their own arms and the triumph of the enemy? The impetuous reformer in a political party who sets up a mutinous organization of his own is doing to the party exactly what such soldiers would be doing to the army. The result in the one case is the defeat of the national forces and the triumph of the invading host. The result in the other is likely to be the defeat at the polls of the party ticket and the victory of the opposition.

In the campaign of 1908 it is not impossible that the Republican party will find itself forced to fight a battle very much like that of 1896. It will require a compactly organized party within our own ranks to achieve positive success. It is entirely likely that there will be arrayed against Republicanism every element in our citizenship which is opposed to Republican principles. The fight will be arduous, and it will require most strenuous effort on the part of every true and loyal Republican to make victory sure. Let every Republican voter get into a Taft Club in his precinct or ward. Let them organize themselves as solid army under the Republican banner. There are not enough machine politicians, political corruptionists, in any precinct, speaking by a broad rule, in the United States, to make headway against a united and earnest effort put forth by the great mass of intelligent citizens intent upon good government in such a precinct or other political division of the country. We call on the Republicans of California to side-track all bosses and would-be bosses, to "get together" and to themselves run the Republican party of California.

UNHAPPY PERSIA.

The situation in Persia is ticklish. The Shah and his Parliament, a short time ago, came to some kind of agreement, but this was evidently only superficial, as disagreement has speedily revived. The Perso-Turkish Boundary Commission has begun its work after many delays, but the Sultan has increased rather than reduced the number of his troops, and still occupies disputed territory. The Persian treasury is almost depleted and the civil and military administration appears to be in as chaotic a state as ever. Robbers infest the highways, and the country in general is so unsettled that trade is practically at a standstill.

The army, which is made up chiefly of undisciplined conscripts, is in the same disgraceful condition that it has been in for years past. The troops are for the most part clad in tattered cotton uniforms and slouch about armed with rusty weapons that are really more dangerous to themselves than to their foes, and, being half-hearted and in receipt of little or no pay, have become a terror to the miserable villagers on whom they depend for ration and quarters.

To add to the general wave of unrest, Kurdish tribesmen have risen in revolt in the neighborhood of Azerbaijan and have looted stores and robbed the sub-treasury. The Shah has ordered a punitive expedition to be sent against these people and is trying to restore law and order in this locality, but the snow lies heavy on the passes, and with the bitter cold winds of the plateau, these half-clad, ill-fed, disheartened men will prove no match for the sturdy Kurds.

The Parliamentary party seems, like the would-be Parliamentary party of India, to be incapable of producing anything but multiplied confusion and importunate talk. The history of Persia in the remote and near past has been one of atrocious muddle and corruption, and the future appears to offer no promise of improvement, but rather a worse state of near-anarchy.

INCREASED EXPORTS TO ASIA AND OCEANIA.

According to the summary of the Bureau of Statistics, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, our exports to Asia in 1927, calendar year, were $10,000,000 greater than in 1926, and to Oceania $5,000,000 greater. Japan has not yet gobbed all the trade.

Here are the exact figures of America's trans-Pacific business:

Exports, 1927	$9,127,195
Exports, 1926	$9,075,358
Increase in 1927	$52,837
Oceania, 1927	$4,549,990
Oceania, 1926	$2,516,547
Increase in 1927	$2,033,443
Total increase in 1927	$15,885,280

By countries the record of exports for each year is:

	1926	1927
Japan	$24,408,578	$41,068,508
Australia and Tasmania	$28,339,929	$26,837,494
Chinese Empire	$29,834,015	$23,097,310
Philippine Islands	$7,101,821	$9,926,071
Hongkong	$6,525,460	$9,144,501
British India	$6,524,647	$8,217,701
Japanese China	$149,099	$7,139,113
New Zealand	$3,531,895	$2,621,168
Straits Settlements	$1,222,913	$2,039,501
Dutch East Indies	$2,040,801	$1,882,072
Asiatic Russia	$2,316,717	$1,847,619
Korea	$1,858,781	$1,072,953
Aden	$2,470,351	$1,112,199
French East Indies	$17,132	$17,574
Turkey in Asia	$96,279	$58,094
French Oceania	$10,253	$52,764
Siam	$72,123	$37,473
German China	.....	$79,571
French China	$35,975	$192,007
Other British East Indies	$20,590	$177,810
German Oceania	$5,216	$3,765
British China	$1,293	$17,391
Persia	$1,951	$3,688
Portuguese East Indies	$420	$217
All other Asia	$3,503	$211
All other British Oceania	$27,323	$45,228

It will be noted that our 1927 exports to the Philippines were nearly $4,000,000 greater than in 1926; to Japan, $6,663,900 greater; to British India, $1,700,000 greater; to Hongkong, $2,619,000 greater; to New Zealand, $2,633,000 greater; and to Japanese China, $3,990,000 greater. Against these satisfactory increases there were losses in other countries; but, as stated, the net result of the year's exports to Asia and Oceania, was an increase of $15,885,280, or $1,250,000 a month.

It is thus evident that it will pay us to study and vigorously improve the Asia-Oceania opportunities for American sales. And we must and will insist on "the open door." All Asia is beckoning to American enterprise, and who but the Goddess of Liberty should dominate the traffic of the Pacific?

Now let all the Protestant denominations of the Christian church of God join, in God's name, with the Catholics and the Jews from one end of this great land to the other in one supreme effort to exterminate anarchy.

FISH AS FOOD.

In a recent bulletin of the Agricultural Department, on the value and use of fish as food, the attempt has been made to provide a useful summary of data regarding the nutritive value of fish and its place in the diet. The conclusions arrived at are largely based on investigations made at the experimental station on the chemical composition and nutritive values of food fishes and aquatic invertebrates.

"Sea food," which is construed to include, besides the fish proper, many other water animals, as oysters, clams, and other mollusks, lobsters, crawfish and shrimps, in one form or another, is almost universally recognized as an important food material and enters to some extent into the diet of very many if not the majority of American families. While 217,000,000 pounds of edible fish are taken annually from the waters of the Pacific Coast (exclusive of Alaska), it is noticeable that many kinds of fish which are known to be good for food are seldom eaten. This prejudice against certain fish is largely local; for instance, skates are eaten on the western coast of the United States, but until recently were regarded as of no value in the East. A few years ago sturgeon and eel were not generally eaten. Today sturgeon is much prized, and in regions where it was formerly worthless commands a high price. Many persons have a prejudice against frogs' legs, while others consider them a great delicacy. In some regions of Europe the bodies of frogs are also used. In Cuba and other localities squid tentacles are eaten. An interesting change of opinion regarding the use of a sea product may be noted in the case of abalone, a large mollusk abundant on the California coast, which was formerly disregarded as a food product by Americans, but which, owing to its use by the Chinese, has become known and is popular.

In general, it may be said that fish from clear, cold, deep water are regarded as preferable to those from shallow or warm water, while fish taken in waters with a rocky or sandy bottom are preferred to those from water with a muddy bottom. Fish caught by the gills and allowed to die in the water by slow degrees, as is the case where gill nets are used, undergo decomposition very readily and are inferior for food. Fish are often landed alive and allowed to die slowly. This custom is not only inhumane, but lessens the value of the fish. It has been found that fish killed immediately after catching remain firm and bear shipment better than those allowed to die slowly.

Fish contain the same kind of nutrients as other food materials and serve a two-fold purpose, supplying the body with material for building and repairing its tissues and fluids, and furnishing it with fuel for maintaining body temperature and for supplying energy necessary for muscular work. Fish is essentially a nitrogenous food. In this it resembles meat. The place of fish in the diet, if judged by its composition, is to supplement cereals and other vegetables, the most of which are deficient in protein, the chief nutrient in the flesh of fish. Equal to beef as a source of energy in the diet, fish provides the same sensation of satiety and this persists for as long a time. Experiments have demonstrated that fish caused the excretion of a smaller amount of uric acid than meat. There is a widespread notion that fish contains large proportions of phosphorus, and on that account is particularly valuable as brain food. However, in specimens analyzed the percentages of phosphorus are not larger than are found in the flesh of other animals used for food. There is no experimental evidence to warrant the assumption that fish is more valuable than meats or other food material for the nourishment of the brain. The opinion of eminent physiologists is that phosphorus is no more essential to the brain than nitrogen, potassium, or any other element which occurs in its tissues.

The dangers from eating fish containing ptomaines may be summarized in a few words. Ptomaines are poisonous bodies due to the action of micro-organisms, and their formation quite generally, though not always, accompanies putrefaction (being greatest in its early stages), and therefore great care should be taken to eat fish only when it is in perfectly good condition. Fish which has been frozen and, after thawing, kept for a time before it is cooked, is especially likely to contain injurious ptomaines. In general it may be said that fish should be considered unfit for food when the eyes have lost their sheen, the cornea is somewhat cloudy, the gills pale red, when blubber shows at the gills, when the scales are dry or easily loosened, or when the meat is so soft that if pressed with the finger the indentation remains. Laying fish in water has been recommended as a means of judging of their condition. Those which sink may be considered undecomposed and wholesome, while those which are decomposed will float.

A kind of poisoning called mytilism, usually fatal in its results, has been sometimes observed to follow the eating of clams. The reason for this illness is not definitely known, though it is attributed to a poisonous body sometimes found in clams, especially in the liver.

other forms of animal and vegetable life, constituting their natural food, are preferable to those living upon sewage and other matter which may contaminate the waters. Oyster beds should be free from sewage pollution. Severe illness and death have resulted in many cases from eating raw oysters contaminated with sewage containing typhoid fever germs.

THE GENTLE ART OF COURTSHIP.

BY JANIE B. JONES.

Time has brought many changes to the human race since man proclaimed himself lord of everything in sight and for two miles beyond and by some power he has since lost, made woman uphold him in it. In those days when he was ready to get married he took his club, went after the woman of his choice, brought her back home with him, told her what she must do, and she obeyed him and his club.

And the earth spun on in its appointed course without asking woman's leave, till some girl's superior attractions won for her a choice of suitors. The special privileges she enjoyed and bragged about incited other young women to strive for a number of suitors. And so was born the rivalry that exists between the gorgeously adorned, twentieth-century belles, the direct result of the need of favor won by beauty in primeval days. Down the long ages has come with it the custom the poor early girl could not help of wearing rather scant clothing in full dress.

And so matters went on from bad to worse for man's supremacy until his club became transformed into a box of candy or a bouquet, and he must needs win his wife with courtly deeds and sweet speeches, and so you may see him today.

But through the crash of matter and the wreck of worlds, he has by some wonderful fitness, reserved to himself the power to choose the queen of his mansion or his bower, as he may provide, with the exclusive right to the utterance of the words and their synonyms—"I love you. Will you marry me?" And woman who has wheeled or wrestled a share in every other "inalienable privilege" of mankind that was once held by both sexes is to be invisible, still has to await humbly his pleasure to speak before she can say a decisive word in the matter. In plain American talk, she's got to wait till she's asked.

It is the one occasion vital to her in which she needs must sing small—very small. Even though she may see her heart's desire of a matrimonial yokefellow straying after an alien path, yet she must await his permission, as it were, before she dares to tell him so. Though many a woman has rebelled against such a state of things, and many a one has proclaimed her right to speak her choice in a matter fully as vital to her happiness as it can be to his, man says not a word to save the day for himself. He has a better way, and a more effective. All the men everywhere seem to have united to protect man's right of choice in the same way.

But it does seem that after all these generations of practice, when every married man has repeated the formula so telling often, for entrance into matrimony—"I love you. Will you marry me?" or some of its variations, that it should by this time fall trippingly from his tongue, that he should be able to say it when and to whom he would with the fluency of the most finished orator, and that it is alleged that embarrassment often overtakes him when he is asked to say it. It is even said that a suitor has been known to diligently seek an occasion when he could speak without danger of interruption from a third party, only to conclude to wait till next time, as he found it harder to speak his piece than he had anticipated.

The one plausible reason suggesting itself why a self-respecting man should find any difficulty in asking the lady he likes best to come over to his house to live—the highest compliment he could possibly pay her—is that what the learned folks call a "subconscious" whisper is trying to tell him that he is about to bring down a world of trouble on his poor defenceless head—something like a dog that is begging his master to please put a block on him.

At the Churches Yesterday.

At the churches yesterday, the people were gathered to hear the word of God and to receive the sacraments. The services were held in a spirit of devotion and reverence.

The Rev. Mr. [Name] delivered a sermon on the subject of [Topic]. He exhorted the congregation to live lives of faith and obedience to God's commandments.

The service was well attended, and the people departed in peace and comfort. The church is a place of worship and fellowship for the community.

Two Big Fires.

New York City Railway Company Has Second Serious Fire in a Year.

Paint Factory Burns.

Two big fires broke out in New York City yesterday, one at a paint factory and another at a railway company building.

The paint factory fire started in the early morning and spread rapidly, burning for several hours before being brought under control.

The railway company building fire occurred later in the day, causing significant damage to the structure and disrupting service.

Firefighters worked tirelessly to contain the fires, and the cause of each is still under investigation.

The fires caused considerable property damage and loss, but no injuries were reported.

The community is grateful for the efforts of the fire department in handling these emergencies.

The fires serve as a reminder of the importance of fire safety measures in industrial and commercial buildings.

Authorities are reviewing the incidents to prevent similar fires in the future.

contains something more to its credit than the heated imaginative creations of boom newspapers and boom operators. Due allowance should, of necessity, be made for the excitement which always goes hand in hand with strenuous gold boom, but there is every reason to believe that there is something to support the stories to the richness of the early finds and that Rawhide will take its place as a permanent producer of gold, among the best in the Sagebrush State.

RELICS OF WAR.

OLD CANNON ARE UNEARTHED.

MUNITIONS OF WAR FOUND BY SANTA FE WORKMEN.

While Digging for a Sewer They Uncover a Large Number of Muskets, Cannon Balls, Sabers, and Two Large Brass Cannons, Which Had Been Buried by Confederates.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]
SANTA FE (N. M.) Feb. 29.—Workmen engaged in digging a trench for a sewer in this city have unearthed a large number of guns, cannon balls, sabers and two large brass cannons.
The trench, which traverses the old Fort Marcy military reservation, is supposed to have struck the burial place of military stores which were thus disposed of when the city was abandoned in 1861 by Confederate troops under Gen. Canby to prevent their falling into the hands of Union troops under the command of Col.
John P. Slough.

While all these years it has been known that somewhere within the city
a large number of guns, cannon, etc., had been buried, the exact location of the place could never be ascertained, as the old maps showing the hiding place were inaccurate. This had remained a mystery until a few days ago, when the hiding place was accidentally revealed.
That a very large quantity of arms and ammunition were buried is evident from the fact that several hundred arms, over 1000 cannon balls, ranging from twelve to twenty-five pounders, and two large brass cannons have so far been unearthed. While the muskets and small arms are almost wholly destroyed by the rust of years, the brass and copper mountings are easily discernible. The cannon balls are badly corroded, as are also the brass apices. However, the latter can be scoured up, and will make very interesting relics. They are estimated to be worth several hundred dollars apiece. The Historical Society has secured them, and will add them to its already extensive museum.

Considerable excitement attended the unearthing of these relics, and a large crowd gathered about the trench watching operations. It is known that twelve cannons in all were buried, together with a large sum of money, and now that the hiding place of the arms has been discovered, an effort will be made to find the buried treasure.

Candle Using in China.
The Chinese people are great users of candles, or, rather, what used to be known in America as "tallow dips."
These are an inferior quality of candle which are locally manufactured, with a wick consisting of a straw
soaked in some inflammable material, the straw projecting from the lower end of the candle for a distance of two or three inches. The actual candle is not more than four to five inches in length, though larger ones are made for use on sacrificial altars, in large latteries, etc. The candles are of a peculiar Chinese shape, about five-eighths of an inch at the top, tapering to less than half an inch at the bottom, from which the straw wick projects. The hole in the straw gives an opportunity to stick these on a small wire spike which projects from the center of all Chinese candlesticks, and which holds the candle in an upright position.—

Something Besides Coffee.
Senator Cullom told a story the other day about former Gov. Richard Oglesby of Illinois and Judge Otis Humphrey, who is now on the Federal bench of Illinois. Gov. Oglesby and Judge Humphrey had gone to Petersburg to make a political speech and while there were entertained in the home of one of the prominent citizens of the town, who not only had religious scruples but practiced them. At dinner that evening the host served coffee with the meal. Gov. Oglesby waited a few minutes after dinner and then called over to Judge Humphrey: "Otis, let's go downtown."
"Every few steps on that trip downtown," said the Senator, "Dick would stop and mutter under his voice: 'Coffee.'
After having proceeded in this fashion, with no other word to his companion, for quite a distance, the Governor turned to Judge Humphrey and remarked: "Otis, do you suppose that man thinks there is nothing else
in this world to drink besides coffee?
Will you join me?"

The Doctor Knows.

Note what your Doctor drinks.

You will find it generally a beer, and a bottled beer. And the label is usually Schlitz. He is a man who knows.

He knows that beer is healthful, and every day he prescribes it. The hops are a tonic, the barley is food. The trifle of alcohol is an aid to digestion.

That is why he drinks beer.

But he knows that beer must be pure, else there are germs in it. And he knows that beer must be aged, else biliousness comes from it.

That is why he drinks Schlitz.

He knows that we double the necessary cost of our brewing to insure absolute purity. We carry cleanliness to extremes. We filter, not only the beer, but even the air that cools it. And we sterilize every bottle.

Do as your Doctor does.

The demand of today is for purity among the millions who know. They order Schlitz and insist on it. There are now so many of them that our sale exceeds 1,500,000 barrels annually.

Schlitz

Ask for the Brewery Bottling.

Common beer is sometimes substituted for Schlitz.

To avoid being imposed upon, see that the cork or crown is branded Schlitz.

The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous

The Habit of Sleep.

No one can acquire the habit of sleep who has not learned the habit of concentration, of devoting himself single-minded to the matter in hand. If we practice devoting our minds, as we do our bodies, to one object at a time, we shall not only accomplish more, but with less exhaustion. Training in this direction will help us, on retiring, to view sleep as our present duty, and a sufficient duty, without taking the opportunity at that time to adjust (or to try to adjust) all our tangles, to review our past sources of discomfort, and to speculate upon the ills of the future. A walk, a bath, a few gymnastic exercises, before retiring, but if they are undertaken in a fretful and impatient spirit, and are accompanied by doubts of their effectiveness and the insistent thought that sleep will not follow these or any other procedure, they are likely to accomplish little.

The best immediate preparation for sleep is the confidence that one will sleep, and indifference if one does not.

by the habitual adoption of the same attitude toward all the affairs of life. It is an aid in its adoption as regards sleep to learn that many have for years slept only a few hours a night, without noticeable impairment of their health or comfort.—(George Lincoln Walton, M.D., in Lippincott's Magazine.)

Food Prices in Germany.

From all parts of Germany sharp advances in the prices of the necessities of life, especially in foodstuffs, and fodder for live stock, are reported. The latter have been noticeable during the last few weeks, and are due, in a measure at least, to the unsatisfactory crops of the last year. The result is a strong upward movement in the price of all foodstuffs. Meat is the only exception. It shows a slight tendency to lower prices, but is still above the figures of two years ago, and the slightly lower prices of today are, perhaps, due to the constant agitation for cheaper meat, which have continued uninterruptedly for two years past. In some instances municipalities have gone into the butchering business, and have sold directly to the people, while in many places meat prices have been fixed by municipal enactment.—[Consular Reports.]

First Doctor: Was the operation successful?

Second Doctor: Splendid! We located the trouble just where I said we would, but we had to cut nearly through the man to find it.

First Doctor: Will he get well?

Second Doctor: The patient? Yes, you, no! He died directly after we began.—[Judge.]

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

A FAVORITE

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult.

PLUCKY TELLER WINGS HIS MEN

BOLD, BAD BANDITS BESTED BY BANKER.

Two Men Enter Winnipeg Bank and Empty Four Revolvers at One of Its Officials. When They Open up on Them With Telling Effect, but They Escape.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

WINNIPEG (Man.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A masked robbery, armed with automatic revolvers, a determined attempt to rob the Bank of Commerce on Logan avenue, Saturday evening, and in the melee the interior of the bank was riddled with bullets. Freeman Suess, paying teller, received a bullet wound in the arm, while both robbers were wounded during their flight.

The bank, as usual, was open for business Saturday night. Suess was disturbed at work when the command "Hands up!" Looking up, he faced two masked men, each armed with two automatic revolvers.

"If you don't, we'll shoot," was the reply.

Then Suess, as he ducked behind his desk, not quick enough to dodge the bullet which hit his shoulder.

When the robbers had emptied their guns, Suess opened fire in so determined a manner that the robbers, who were armed with automatics, fled down the street, being chased by Suess, who dropped each of the men, but they got up and continued the fight.

Two policemen joined in the chase, but the men escaped into the yards of the Canadian Pacific, and so far no arrests have been made.

TERRORISTS HANGED.

The Seven Condemned to Death for Complicity in Plot Against Russian Officials Executed.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—The seven terrorists who were condemned to death by a court-martial for complicity in a plot against the lives of Grand Duke Nicholas and his wife, the Grand Duchess Alexandra, were hanged at daylight Sunday at Lissay Novos, opposite Kronstadt. Among those who suffered death were Gavril, the supposed Italian agent, the passport issuer when the grand duke was in possession of the real Calvo, the St. Petersburg correspondent of two Italian newspapers, and three women, two of whom were 18 and 19 years of age, respectively.

ARRESTED FOR NON-SUPPORT.

Henry G. Faubus, a salesman, was arrested yesterday in San Bernardino by Deputy Sheriff Matherson on a warrant charging him with failure to support his family.

BEGS FOR PUNISHMENT.

Solomon Goldman, a shoe-stitching peddler, gave himself up to the police yesterday afternoon and asked them to punish him for deserting his wife and five children in Cleveland, O. It is believed by the police that Goldman, who is a Jew, is insane. Goldman told the police that he borrowed $50 from Sarah Lashin with whom he was infatuated, and sent his wife and children to Boston. He says he supported Miss Lashin until three years ago when he came to this city.

GUN SCARES PASSENGERS.

Deputy Game Warden A. N. Nieto boarded inbound Corvina car No. 270, last night on the charge of terrorizing the passengers. After a struggle Conductor Carpenter overpowered the man and secured his revolver. Nieto was apparently intoxicated when he boarded the car.

CASHES BAD CHECK.

A. H. Yorba, a Mexican laborer, was arrested last night on the charge of passing a fictitious check amounting to $15. He cashed it at a saloon on North Main street and it was returned by the local bank marked "no funds."

CRIME BRIEFS.

Arrested for Killing Ex-Roommate.
LAWLESS (Mass.) March 1.—Joseph Galloway, 27, a plumber's helper, was found dead in the shop of his employer today with his head and face covered with cuts and bruises, his body burned as though an attempt had been made to pour kerosene on him. He had been in a fight with a man named Napoleon River, a former roommate, who had been arrested for killing a man named Napoleon River.

NELSON AND BRITT READY.

Both Fighters Reported Fit to Enter Ring.

Large Crowds See Them Turn Final Tricks.

Big Delegation of Sports to Come from North.

At the post. The game was very fast, and both sides showed excellent condition. The weather was cool enough for the players, but not too cold for the comfort of the spectators. It was not an exciting game to watch, but pleasing enough on account of the splendid team work of the Thistle forwards. The line-up was as follows:

Thistles	Rangers
Buchan	O.L. Carwell
McDougal	T.L. Miller
Gordon	C.F. Todd
Mitchell	I.R. McCubbin
Gove	L.H. Humphreys
Loewman	C.H. Kelly
Rheinhold	R.H. Porteous
Clark	L.B. Sheppard
Baird	Goal Patterson
Maxwell	Goal Thompson (Rangers)

Referee, McComb. Touchdown, O'Connell (Thistles). Thompson (Rangers).

SANTA ANA WINS.

Semi-finals for Academic Athletic Union Championship at Ontario.

ONTARIO, March 1.—The semi-final game for the girls' basketball championship of the Academic Athletic Union of Southern California, played on the local court yesterday afternoon between Ontario and Santa Ana High Schools, resulted in a victory for the latter. The score was 24 to 14, in favor of Santa Ana. The game was fairly exciting but was handicapped throughout. The Ontario girls held the minutes of the first half. But the Ontario team was somewhat handicapped by having to have six players, when it was supposed to have five. This fact together with some skillful work on the part of the Santa Ana forwards put the Ontario team in a difficult position. In the second half Lohman, one of the girls' collegiate stars, refereed. The work of this official angered the spectators who questioned his decisions.

The score and line-up was: Santa Ana, 24; Ontario, 14. Santa Ana forwards: Yock, Latta, Newcomer, Roberts, Osborn. Santa Ana guards: Duncan, Manner, Kincaid, Hamilton, Peugh. Ontario forwards: Yock, Latta, Newcomer, Roberts, Osborn. Ontario guards: Duncan, Manner, Kincaid, Hamilton, Peugh.

Hosland First.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) March 1.—W. A. Hosland of Auburn, N. Y., won the six-day walking match, having covered 120 miles in six days. He thus retained the world's championship. He was defeated by a score of 120 to 118 by Blake of Florida, and C. F. Floyd of Columbus, O., dropped out tonight, leaving but five men to divide the prize.

Turner Medal Shoot.

The bout scheduled for this city this week are: Monday—West End Athletic Club, Jack O'Brien and Jack Bonner; Wednesday—Wayne Athletic Club, Pat Ryan and Jim Trevelick; Thursday—Broadway Athletic Club, Unk Russell and George Kralls; Friday—Ontario Athletic Club, Mike Malone and Young Pierce; and Saturday—Athletic Club, Spike Robson.

MANY AMATEUR BALL GAMES.

HOEGEE TEAM WINS A CLOSE MATCH AT CHUTES PARK.

Fair Sized Crowd Braves Possible Shower to See Sport—Both Whittier and Gamble Do Effective Pitching—San Pedro Shuts Out Dolgeville by Overwhelming Score.

The Hoegees defeated the Christopher-Levys yesterday by the score of 3 to 2 in the last Winter League ball game to be played on the Chutes Park diamond. The Hoegees scored two runs in the last of the third by two hits and a wild throw over first base by the Christopher-Levys.

The batteries were Whittier and Gamble for the Christopher-Levys, and Houghton and Houghton for the Hoegees. Both twirlers were in good form, and the 200 fans who turned out saw a good article of ball. Ben Berry turned the proceeds of the rent of the grounds over to the fund for the unemployed. Whittier left last night for San Francisco to join the Seals.

Other scores in the California Winter League yesterday were: Pasadena 6, Meeks 2; at Pasadena; San Pedro, Dolgeville 6; at San Pedro; Santa Monica 2, Santa Ana 0, first game, Santa Ana 3, Santa Monica 0, second game, at Santa Ana; Santa Barbara, rain.

STILL AT IT.

THE DYAS-CLINES PULLED THE UNIVERSITY MERCHANTS DOWN FROM FIRST PLACE IN THE SOUTHERN STATE LEAGUE BY DEFEATING THEM BY THE SCORE OF 4 TO 2, AT JOY PARK YESTERDAY.

The Dyas-Clines pulled the University Merchants down from first place in the Southern State League by defeating them by the score of 4 to 2, at Joy Park yesterday. The batteries were Lyman and Whaling for the Dyas-Clines, and Dolan and Berryman for the Merchants.

On the Salt Lake grounds the home team won from the Eagles, 3 to 1. Grayson, the Salt Lake twirler, struck out twice. At Lordsburg the timely hitting of Bralwater of the Nofzigers, won the first game, 7 to 2. Lordsburg won the second, of six innings, 2 to 0. No game was played at Arcadia between the News and Seal Garden teams.

The standing of the teams is:

Team	Played	Won	Lost	Pct.
Santa Ana	11	8	3	.727
San Pedro	12	7	5	.583
Meeks	10	6	4	.600

DOUGLAS' AMILY WINS.

ONE BROTHER BEATS OTHER.

A. B. Douglas won the Hoegee handicap medal at the shoot of the Los Angeles Revolver Club, at the Bishop street range, yesterday. He tied with his brother I. C. Douglas with a score of 59 in the regular event, and in the shoot-off defeated his opponent by one point. George Mallon was third with a score of 56.

On account of the cold, and in order to turn the range over to the Christopher-Levys, the shoot was concluded early in the afternoon. W. E. Smith, a crack shot, who was expected to be a close competitor for the Douglas, fell down through icy shooting.

The scores were:

Player	Score
A. B. Douglas	59
I. C. Douglas	59
George Mallon	56
E. C. Crossman	51
J. E. Holcomb	50
William Gordon	49

Don't Wait

This wonderful treatment for all catarrhal troubles, including deafness, asthma, bronchitis, stomach and lung diseases, is the talk of the city. Physicians who have investigated it pronounce it the ideal treatment, and every day patients who have tried other treatments without relief are coming to our office, and from the first treatment can see the difference. As asthma and hay fever sufferers from all over the coast come to our office for treatment, while we receive letters of inquiry from as far east as New York and from the West Coast, we are referred to from people who have been referred to the Los Angeles Medical Institute.

Cured of Deafness and Catarrh

W. W. CRAWFORD, Fullerton. Everybody in Fullerton knows W. W. Crawford, and it is with a great deal of pleasure that we give his statement of his remarkable cure to the public. Mr. Crawford suffered with a large nasal polypus which obstructed his nose and made him a persistent mouth-breather. The pressure of this large growth on the eustachian tube also made Mr. Crawford deaf. This growth was removed from his nose, restoring his hearing to him immediately, and his catarrh was cured in a very few treatments. Mr. Crawford is enthusiastic over the results of his treatment and says he would not take one thousand dollars for the benefits he has received.

Not Catarrh Alone

The specialists of the Los Angeles Medical Institute can be consulted free of charge in regard to any curable case.

Special Department for Men

If you have failed to get relief in the past, you can call upon us and be assured of a cure, as we accept no incurable cases. Our offices are on the fourth floor. Bring this ad.
